

Mother's Day reader's theater

This version includes pantomime action. Props need not be used. Actors should pantomime in such a way the audience sees what is not there. Lighting cues are in italics.

CHARACTERS: (SPEAKING) Readers 1 & 2; (ACTING) Mother, children, Father, shop owner, poor person, city elders, owner of field

SCRIPTURE/BASED ON: Proverbs 31, The Message

At rise: Mother and children are center stage, lying down asleep. Stage left: field owner, father and city elders motionless in darkness; Far stage right, shop owner motionless in darkness. Poor person is offstage (right)

READER 1: A good woman is hard to find, and worth far more than diamonds. READER 2: She's up before dawn, preparing breakfast for her family and organizing her day. READER 1: First thing in the morning, she dresses for work, ALL: rolls up her sleeves, eager to get started.	Lights up on center stage Mother sits up, stretches, gets up and wakes children who also get up. Mother rolls up her sleeves, starts to mix in a bowl as she directs children to roll up bedding, fetch and carry. Children stand before her with bowls which she fills from her bigger bowl.
READER 2: Her clothes are well-made and elegant, ALL: and she always faces tomorrow with a smile. READER 2: She's skilled in the crafts of home and hearth diligent in homemaking.	As children eat, mother sews.
READER 1: She makes her own clothing, READER 2: and dresses in colorful linens and silks.	Mother finishes sewing and dons coat
READER 1: She doesn't worry about her family when it snows; READER 2: their winter clothes are all mended and ready to wear. READER 1: She designs gowns and sells them; READER 2: She brings the sweaters she knits to the dress shops. READER 1: She's like a trading ship that sails to faraway places and brings back exotic surprises. READER 2: She shops around for the best yarns and cottons and enjoys knitting and sewing.	Mother puts hats and scarves of children and they move stage right to shop owner. Lights down center stage and up far right Mother sells item to shop owner and gets paid. Owner counts out 5 coins. Mother looks over store goods and uses part of the money to buy more yarn or cloth. Mother should pay with one coin. While this is going on, field owner moves in the darkness to stage right
READER 1: She looks over a field and buys it, READER 2: then, with money she's put aside, plants a garden.	Lights down far right and up stage right on field owner who is hoeing. Mother and children move to stage right. Field owner motions to indicate the field. Mother pays one coin. Field owner exits stage right as mother hands hoe to one child; mother and children kneel and squat to weed and plant. Poor person approaches from stage right. Lights dim stage right and up stage left
READER 1: Her husband is greatly respected when	Father talks and elders listen, nodding
